AIMS & OBJECTIVES

Professional Education & Promotion Society (PEPS) a "not-for-profit" society was established with the Islamic spirit to provide a platform of learning to the female population not only for this region but for rest of the country. Most of the females in the country especially from KPK, Balochistan and Southern Punjab are denied higher professional education due to their disliking for coeducation for one reason or the other. The need for providing medical education to educating such population was seriously realized and Professional Education Promotion Society materialized the opportunity to be offered to females interested in medical education in the form of bringing up a Women Medical College for females only. Their successful endeavour to induct the best available teaching faculty from all over the country is self explanatory and reflects sincere efforts for the promotion of professional education in Pakistan in general and in the province of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa in particular.

Women Medical College being the first medical college reserved for female education in private sector is flourishing with the untiring efforts of the member of the Board of Management and administrative staff besides the dedicated and scrupulously diligent efforts of the teaching staff whose motto is "Promotion of professional education with devotion and dedication in a centre par excellence". Endless efforts are in progress for the ultimate goal i.e. Development of first women university in the province for female education only. A dream to come true Inshallah with the kindness and endless blessings of Allah Almighty.

INTRODUCTION

Women Medical College, Abbottabad is the only female medical college in the private sector in Pakistan. The College was established as it was felt that a large number of females, willing to acquire medical education were unable to do so because of multiple factors, including our socio-cultural system which does not allow females to study in coeducational environment as the number of female medical colleges are very limited in public as well as in private sector throughout the country. So it was realized that there was a dire need to establish a female medical college. We accepted the challenge and selected an ideal site to start Women Medical College, which is situated in the scenic town of Abbottabad about 05 km from the heart of the city off Murree Road. The calm and quiet atmosphere, abundant greenery and cool shades provide congenial and an ideally suitable environment for learning. The college is housed in a historic building locally known in the city as "HOTI PALACE" which is spread over an area of 50 kanals. Almost 60% of the area is covered by the campus building i.e. old and new and the rest 40% is comprising of lush green lawns, garden and playgrounds within the premises for the students under strict security measures.

EXAMINATION RULES

Evaluation is an essential components of education process. In order to achieve this there are regular internal evaluations. The students are evaluated in knowledge (cognitive domain), skills (psychomotor domain) and beliefs and attitudes (affective domain). The principles of internal evaluation are uniformly applied in a transparent manner. The purpose of evaluation is

- a. To get feed back of the students about their understanding of subject material. This purpose is achieved by periodic internal evaluation of each chapter/ topic of course.
- b. To certify that the students have successfully completed the training and have achieved objectives of educational programme.
- c. To motivate and encourage the students to direct their own learning.
- d. To achieve these objective we adopt the following processes.
 - (i). The students are continuously assessed at the end of a module, term, stage, chapter in the form of class tests, stage and term examination (Mid Term and Sentup Exams). Proper record of marks obtained in internal assessments in theory & practicals are maintained and the scores obtained in these tests, stages etc contribute 10% of the final score of student in the annual/ supplementary University Examination of each subject.
 - (ii). Whatever may be the system of marking for all examinations throughout medical & dental course the passing percentage of marks in each subject is not less than 50% i.e 50% in theory and 50% in practical.
 - (iii). If a student fails in theory/ practical in any of the examining subject, she will be considered failed in that subject(s). She will reappear in both theory as well as practical in the said subject(s) in her next examination.
 - (iv). To appear in any professional examination the student must complete 75% of her attendance in each subject as per rules of Pakistan Medical & Dental Council and Khyber Medical University, Peshawar. No student is eligible for a university examination without having attended 75% of lectures, demonstrations, tutorials, practical and clinical work in lab, inpatient and outpatient. Only those medical leave certificate would be accepted that to be issued by the consultant of Jinnah International Hospital Abbottabad except in extreme emergency. A fine of Rs.200/- per day will be imposed on account of absence from class.
 - (v). Only two examinations are conducted in an academic session for a professional exam i.e. Annual & Supplementary Examinations as prescribed by PMDC and Khyber Medical University, Peshawar. No extra examination is allowed in the form of special supplementary examination etc.
 - (vi). The student, who appears in Annual/ Supply examination are provisionally allowed to attend their next higher class till the declaration of results of Annual/ Supply examination of previous class. This is being done to help and provide maximum support and benefit to the students because:
 - a. The university results of different professional examinations are usually delayed and their precious time is saved.
 - b. After passing the supplementary examination of previous class the student will not face any deficiency in the courses of their next class.
 - c. And they will not face shortage of attendance, which make them ineligible to appear in the next professional examination according to University rules.
 - (vii). No student can be promoted to next higher class unless she passes all the subjects of previous class.
 - (viii). The Provisional admission does not make her eligible to appear in two different examinations in one academic session.
 - (ix). A student, who reappears in her previous class professional examination in annual/ supply, is not eligible to appear in new class professional examination in the same academic year.

The scheme of MBBS examination programme is as under

Not only that the teaching is costly but the hospital training on the clinical side is much more costly. It is estimated that to train a medical graduate in our country in Govt. medical college cost the government approximately more than Rs. Eight millions while the cost is manifold for such training abroad especially in developed countries like U.S.A and U.K.

As the college is running on self finance basis, so it becomes imperative for the admitted students to pay the college dues well in time and in full amount. Payment in installments is not acceptable. However, students who show up outstanding performance during their course of study e.g. securing top positions in professional examination in the university may get a financial help or monetary awards as decided by the committee from time to time.

Otherwise she should undergo the courses of her studies in the class/ subject(s) in which has been declared failed.
